While NAD+ and its wonders are only beginning to raise people’s awareness in the UK and Europe, its benefits have been well known in the USA for some time. NAD+ has traditionally been administered via intravenous (IV) infusions, either to give a mega boost of NAD+ in the body’s cellular system or to treat certain chronic and acute conditions. With VIVE-NAD+ you can now use NAD+ at home, giving yourself smaller maintenance doses subcutaneously (just under the skin into the fat tissue) to keep you healthy & young. This has been shown to be extremely effective. I have been using it since Dec 2023, have felt the phenomenal benefits and intend to continue taking it for the rest of my life.

I have been using NAD+ for a few months now, to help me overcome symptoms of 'brain fog' brought about by Long Covid. I have noticed a definitive improvement in my ability to have complex conversations and work long hours to the same level as I am used to. I have also found that it increases my energy and focus. I plan to continue taking it.

After taking VIVE-NAD+, I immediately felt lighter and more vibrant. The effects were immediate, almost like a heightened sense of awareness. I became more alert, felt refreshed, and experienced a significant increase in energy. Despite already maintaining good health, I certainly noticed a difference. I felt less anxious, better equipped to handle work-related stress, and my sleep noticeably improved.

I'm always up for trying a new health hack as a yoga teacher and nutritionist. NAD is said to slow down the symptoms of ageing so I was keen to give it a try! VIVE-NAD+ has lifted my mood, given me a spring in my step and I wake up feeling more energised. I'm looking forward to trying it during the winter months when it will be really needed!

I intend to take subcutaneous VIVE-NAD+ for the rest of my life, which, if my beliefs are correct, should last longer than it otherwise would have.
